

Coaching Your Team To Create High Performance

Peter Hawkins, PhD

An Evening with Professor Peter Hawkins International Thought Leader in Leadership Team Coaching

January 19, 2016 6:00 to 8:00 p.m.
New York City, Midtown Manhattan
The Graduate Center CUNY, 365 5th Ave

International thought leader in Leadership Team Coaching, Professor Peter Hawkins discusses his latest research and practical experience with High Performing Boards and Leadership Teams. He introduces a proven framework and 12 key practices to assist senior leaders in coaching their own teams. This talk is based on the recently published second edition of Peter's internationally best-selling book Leadership Team Coaching as well as case studies from his companion publication Leadership Team Coaching in Practice. These were co-written with CEOs, explaining how they have developed their own teams from 'hub and spoke' to teams with much greater commitment, performance and shared leadership.

About Peter Hawkins: Peter Hawkins, PhD is Professor of Leadership at Henley Business School in the United Kingdom and founder and Emeritus Chairman of Bath Consultancy Group. He is also Visiting Professor in Leadership and Change at the University of Bath School of Management, and Visiting Professor in Executive Coaching at Oxford Brookes University School of Management. Peter is a leading consultant, writer and researcher in Leadership and Leadership Development, and an international thought leader in Executive Coaching, Team Coaching and Coaching Supervision. Over the last 30 years Peter has worked with many leading companies around the world, co-designing and facilitating major change and organizational transformation projects and coaching Boards and Leadership Teams. He has helped a number of senior executive teams develop their vision, values and strategy for the future, including commercial companies, public sector, higher education and large professional service organizations.
